

Housing: How Much?

Our planning studies on population change suggest that, on average, over the next 15 years or so, the number of new homes needed will be at least 160 per year.

Our planning studies also suggest that three distinctive parts of Craven (outside the national park) have different requirements, with most new homes needed in the South Sub-Area, which includes Skipton.

